Home and Harmonies.

BY MISS JENNIE CHAMBERLIN.

"Homes ye may be high or lowly,
Hearts alone can make ye holy."

Home! Utter it lovingly—echo it back musically! Ask you whence comes this magic word that weaves within the heart such thrilling spells? Surely, 'twas brought from Heaven by some white-winged angel, and whispered softly to Adam and Eve, when in life's first morning they woke from their dreamless slumbers, in the purposes of divinity, and wandered forth through Eden's bowers, drinking in its beauties and witcheries, and listening to the first grand symphony that rose and swelled in choral strains of gladness from fresh and grateful nature—welling from the valleys, pouring from the hill-tops of their glorious home, where all was harmony, peace and love—where not a discordant note rung on the breeze, till Satan, full of studied art and deep revenge, sought out this chosen spot, and with his wily words, beguiled the confiding Eve to mar the pleasures of her home: thence expelled, sorrowing and stricken, 'twas then, me thinks, this beautiful word acquired its first significance to them. 'Twas like "a gush of day-spring from on high"—the sweetest incentive to action in their new, untried sphere of life.

Home! ah, yes! the perfumed memory of that blissful abode must have inspired these fugitives to labor earnestly, assiduously, to make them a dwelling which, at least, would bear some resemblance to the beautiful, the lost home. With what joyous emotion must their hearts have been filled as they beheld some bursting bud, springing vine, or spreading bough which recalled the scenes of Eden! But soon the heart-tendrils twine close around the fruits of their exertions, and they are as happy as 'tis possible for fallen creatures to be. 'Tis thus, this hallowed association comes floating adown the aisle of ages as naturally, harmoniously, as the air we breathe—that bringeth gladness and maketh music on its way—and the fondest, purest hopes cluster in the soft, familiar words, "our home." I pity the heart that does not melt with tenderness, as thoughts of home and its harmonies sweep over it. A dreary, arid waste, unblessed with sunshine, unrefreshed with dew—a desert where the hot sirocco breath of selfishness has quenched all life—must that heart be.

Home, may be a gorgeous, gilded palace—a cot of ease and plenty, or a hut with the bare necessities of life,

"Still, to ourselves in every place consigned
Our own felicity we make or find."

Oh! if each member of the family circle would only strive to smooth away the petty cares which so oft "cloud the color of domestic life"—would always bring soft words and sunny smiles around "the hearthstone and fender,"—who, then, could sigh to roam far away from its hallowed precincts in pursuit of pleasure? Not one; for it would be found, in perennial bloom, at home, the fruitage of a mother's love—the culture of a gentle sister's hand—

"Affection, kindness, the sweet offices
Of love and duty, are to all as needful
As our daily bread."

Yes, do not the words, "Give us this day our daily bread," as dictated by the Father, imply our spiritual as well as our temporal bread; faith, hope, and love, or charity? Ah, how near the soul feels to God, as this petition of spiritual hunger—this yearning to approximate the holiness of its Divine source—passeth the lips!

God's best gift to man is love—pure, holy love! Then should we cherish and hallow, guard and nourish, water and cultivate this germ, till it springs into perfection—hangs its luxuriant garlands round the door of home; dills with ripe fruits the garden of the heart; wafts its perfume after the wanderer to woo him back; spreads its sunshine where disappointment else had cast its gloom, and tells the soul of Heaven. Yes, Heaven, for what is heaven but home? Harmonious still, 'tis what we lost in Paradise—'tis what we seek on earth—'tis all that makes us seek a "better land;" and this world's prodigals are only blest when they arise and go, to their Father. Then let us cultivate the love of home, and scatter heaven's sunlight within its sacred walls, and shut out sin, and make it still a paradise. 'Twill fit us for "the mansions in the skies," where all the harmonies of life will blend, and all our longing expectations meet with the Divine fulfillment in the dwelling place of God—the soul's eternal home.

GEORGIA LEGISLATURE.

SENATE.

WEDNESDAY, March 10, 1869.

Senate met pursuant to adjournment.

Prayer by Senator Hinton.

Journal read and approved.

Mr. NUNNALLY moved to reconsider the action of the Senate, laying upon the table a bill allowing set-offs and recoupments.

The same was reconsidered, and referred to a special committee, consisting of Harris, Nunnally and Candler.

Mr. CANDLER moved to reconsider the bill lost on yesterday, authorizing J. L. P. Grant, of Fulton county, to peddle without license.

A message was received from his Excellency, the Governor, transmitting the 15th Article.

Mr. WINN offered a resolution adopting the same.

Mr. HUNGERFORD offered a substitute, which was accepted by Mr. Winn.

Mr. HINTON moved to lay the whole subject upon the table.

The yeas and nays being required, were, yeas 13, nays 16.

Mr. WOOTEN then moved to make the consideration of the subject matter the special order for Friday next, after reading the Journal, which was agreed to.

Mr. ADAMS moved to reconsider the action of the Senate, on yesterday, laying upon the table a bill to repeal the first section of the sixth article of the Constitution, which abolishes the general system of education.

Mr. WINN opposed the same, advocating the general free school system.

Mr. ADAMS withdrew the motion to reconsider.

The Senate took up the resolution rescinding the resolution fixing the day of adjournment on the 12th instant, and fixing Wednesday, the 18th, as the day. This being the day to bring on an election of Commissioners of Immigration, and no notice having been given of its approval by the Governor, the same was rescinded.

Mr. HUNGERFORD introduced a resolution directing the Secretary to transmit the bill granting State aid to the Brunswick and Albany Railroad to the House.

Mr. HOLCOMBE to take from the table the motion to reconsider the bill, which motion was laid upon the table on yesterday.

The President decided that the motion was out of order; as a motion to reconsider having been laid upon the table, it could not be taken up.

Mr. LESTER appealed from the decision of the Chair. This being a very nice point, quite a discussion was entered into by Messrs. Lester, Hungerford, Nunnally, Burnes and Welborn. Reference was freely made to Cushing's Manual and other parliamentary law. The President was sustained.

Mr. HINTON offered a resolution that the action of the Senate rescind its action granting aid to the Brunswick and Albany Railroad.

The CHAIR decided that the resolution was out of order.

Mr. HINTON appealed from the decision of the Chair.

This, like the former appeal, created quite a discussion, which was participated in by Messrs. HINTON, HOLCOMBE, LESTER and NUNNALLY.

The decision of the President was sustained.

Mr. CANDLER introduced a resolution requesting the House to return the bill aiding the Brunswick and Albany Railroad, so that the Senate may rescind its action, as information of importance had come into the possession of the Senate.

Pending the consideration, the Senate adjourned until 9½ o'clock to-morrow morning.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

WEDNESDAY, March 10, 1869.

House met pursuant to adjournment.

Prayer by Rev. W. M. Crumley.

Journal read and approved.

Mr. CRAWFORD moved to reconsider the bill, lost yesterday, lending State aid to the Cartersville and Van Wert Railroad, which prevailed.

Mr. MORGAN moved to reconsider the bill, lost yesterday, creating a new Judicial Circuit in South western Georgia. Lost.

Mr. McCOMB moved to reconsider the bill, lost yesterday, providing for the removal of the Capitol to Milledgeville.

The yeas and nays were called and were, yeas 79, nays 52.

The motion to take up the bill was lost—yeas 81, nays 46.

On motion, seats were tendered to Major Lamar Cobb and Judge Holtzclaw, during their stay in the city.

On motion of Mr. HARPER, of Terrell, a communication from the Governor was taken up, transmitting 15th Article of the Amendment to the Constitution of the U. S., together with recommendations that it be adopted.

Mr. PHILLIPS moved to refer the message to a committee of seven, and that the committee report on Tuesday next.

Mr. SHUMATE opposed the reference to Special Committee; said the message and recommendations were given with a view to drive its supporters from it.

Mr. HARPER, of Terrell, wanted the House to act at once.

Mr. MORGAN said the adoption of this amendment would give the colored men the right to hold office, he would therefore, oppose it.

Mr. ANDERSON favored its adoption.

Mr. SCOTT, of Floyd, said he saw no necessity for acting hastily: the adoption of this Article would be a stain on the Legislature and degrade the people.

Mr. HUDSON moved that the whole matter be referred to a committee of five, and that said committee report to-morrow at 11 o'clock.

Mr. SAUSSEY could not vote for the amendment as construed by the Governor. Said message commenced with a sneer and ended with an insult.

Mr. RAWLES was ready now to vote on the amendment regardless of the construction of the Governor. He would vote for it and put his own construction on it.

Mr. O'NEAL said he was committed to the amendment. If colored men had a right to vote in Georgia, they should have the same right in every State in the Union.

Mr. PRICE would vote for amendment according to his own construction. He thought the message a reflection upon Congress.

Mr. ELLIS—A resolution adopting the 15th Article, and repudiating the construction placed thereon by the Governor. Motion lost.

Previous question called and sustained on Mr. Phillips' motion as amended by Mr. Hudson. Yeas and nays required and were yeas 96—nays 70.

Mr. HARPER of Terrell, moved to make the message and recommendations the special order of to-morrow. Motion prevailed.

Motion made to go into election for Commissioners under Land and Immigration Bill.

Mr. SAUSSEY said there was no official information before this body that the Land and Immigration Bill had become a law; that the Governor had not approved the bill; and made a point of order that this election could not be held until the bill was a law.

The Chair held the point well taken, and motion lost.

A bill to create a new Judicial Circuit, to be known as the Muscogee Circuit. Lost.

A bill to amend the charter of Mount Vernon Academy, in Washington county. Lost.

A bill to perfect service on railroads. Lost.

Mr. ANDERSON made a report from the special committee to confer with the City Council of Atlanta.

On motion of Mr. SHUMATE, the report was made the special order of to-morrow at 3 o'clock.

A bill to provide compensation for administering amnesty oaths. Lost.

A bill to amend the relief law. Lost.

A bill to levy a tax in Burke county, to put in repair the roads in said county. Passed.

A bill to make Justices Courts, Courts of Record. Lost.

A bill to authorize Justices of the Peace to return defaulters, in militia districts, to Tax Collectors. Lost.

A bill to extend the time for selling wild lands, and make void the selling of the same. Laid on the table.

A message was received from the Senate stating that that body had refused to recede from the amendment to the general tax bill, to-wit: A tax of one dollar upon dogs.

Mr. HUDSON moved to refuse again to concur in the amendment.

The yeas and nays were required on this motion, and were: yeas 81, nays 46. And Mr. Hudson's motion prevailed.

Mr. TUMLIN said it was a great shame for the Legislature to take up so much time on dogs, when other matters of greater importance was neglected.

House adjourned till 3 o'clock P. M.

The New Cabinet.

Our correspondent at Washington gives us some hurried sketches of the members of the new Cabinet. They will be found to be interesting, although necessarily crude and incomplete. They are also suggestive; for if Gen. Grant had looked all over the world, he could hardly have found a set of men who will disappoint the expectations of the Radical politicians more thoroughly. Washburne, of Illinois, whom out of private gratitude he has made Secretary of State, is not a vindictive man, but a perverse one; he has been, as a member of Congress, the watch-dog of the Treasury; and his sentiments on questions relating to the South, are known to be kind and charitable. His brother, Israel Washburne, of Maine, would better fill the State Department: but E. B. Washburne is a great improvement on Sumner, Motley, and men of that ilk. Stewart, as we all know, is not a politician, but a successful business man, with whom money is no object, and, withal, conservative. Governor Cox, of Ohio, is also a man of fine abilities and excellent character, who is certainly not a Radical. The others are not so well known to us; but it is a healthy sign that no one of them has been taken from the ultra and noisy wing of the party, but the new President has selected obscure persons who are not identified with Congress. Altogether, we look to this Cabinet hopefully, and if it will do but half as well as it can, the country will give it a hearty support.—Courier-Journal.

THE STEWART DISABLING ACT.—The following is the act of 1789, which disqualifies Mr. Stewart for the Secretaryship of the Treasury:

Sec. IX. No person appointed to any office instituted by this act, (Secretary of the Treasury,) shall directly or indirectly be concerned or interested in carrying on the business of trade of commerce; or be owner in whole or in part of any sea vessel, or purchase by himself or another in trust, for him, any public lands or other public property; or be concerned in the purchase or disposal of any public securities of any State, or of the United States; or take or apply to his own use any emolument or gain for negotiating or transacting any business in the said department, other than that allowed by law. And if any person shall offend against any of the prohibitions in this act, he shall be deemed guilty of a high misdemeanor, and forfeit to the United States the penalty of three thousand dollars, and shall, upon conviction, be removed from office, and forever thereafter be incapable of holding any office under the United States: Provided, That if any other person than a public prosecutor shall give information of any such offence, upon which a prosecution and conviction shall be had, one-half the aforesaid penalty of three thousand dollars, when recovered, shall be for the use of the person giving such information.—Brightly's Digest, page 864.

ON DIT.—There was a rumor on the streets yesterday that Foster Blodgett had been reinstated in the Augusta Post Office, to receive pay from the time he was suspended by ex-President Johnson. This is rumor but we would not be surprised if there were truth in it, judging from President Grant's appointments thus far.—Augusta Constitutionalist.

LARGE SALE OF LANDS.—Seventy thousand acres of land in Florida will be sold, at Jacksonville, on the first Monday in April next, for division among the heirs. These lands are Spanish grants, and comprise some of the most valuable lands in the State.—Macon Telegraph.

Our New Job Office.

We have an entire new JOB OFFICE, embracing presses, types, borders, cuts, rules and everything pertaining to a complete outfit.

We are prepared to fill all orders for plain, fancy and ornamental work, in the neatest style, on the shortest notice, and at the lowest living rates.

We respectfully solicit the patronage of our friends and the public generally.

THE CAPITOL.—The Capitol question received its final quietus in the House yesterday morning on the loss of Mr. McCombs motion to take up the bill.

The Constitution.—Acknowledgments.

It gives us pleasure to announce to our many friends, that THE CONSTITUTION is now upon a permanent and prosperous career, and that its patronage is increasing beyond all we had hoped. New subscribers are being added by the hundred to our Daily and Weekly subscription books. They are pouring in upon us from all quarters of the State.

In addition to our rapidly increasing circulation—a circulation already largely in excess of any other paper published at at this point—our friends are favoring us with a liberal public patronage, in the way of new advertisements and job work to our new JOB OFFICE.

THE COLUMBUS SUN.—Our "fling," as he terms it, was made at the editor of the Columbus Sun, under the impression that he would have impaired our citizenship on the ground that we were born in another State. We are happy to know that the editor disclaims any such motive.

We have but one word more for our gifted and respected cotemporary. Let him recognize accomplished facts and cease to war upon Atlanta as the Capitol The Sun and the CONSTITUTION have enough to do in a concerted fight against the common enemy, instead of wasting time on side issues.

Report of the Conference Committee on the Capitol Question.

The report of this Committee was laid before the House yesterday morning, and is the special order for 3 o'clock this afternoon.

We have not read the report, but are advised of its leading features. It recommends that the proposition of the city of Atlanta to donate the bonds of the city to the amount of one hundred thousand dollars in lieu of her present contract with the State to furnish a capitol building for ten years, be accepted. They further recommend that the proposition of the Messrs. Kimball, to sell the State the Opera House, including the fixtures, furniture, etc., for the sum of three hundred thousand dollars, be accepted. They propose that the Governor shall be authorized to issue to the Messrs. Kimball two hundred thousand dollars in 7 per cent. bonds of the State, to run for twenty years. They also propose to secure to the State, out of this sale, the $31,000 paid by His Excellency, the Governor, to the Messrs. Kimball.

The Committee are of opinion that the income to the State from that portion of the building not required for State purposes will be from $10,000 to $15,000 per annum.

The Committee are of opinion that the location of the Capitol is practically settled, but, that the question will be subject to agitation until the State becomes the owner of her own capitol building. The report of this Committee strikes us as just and proper. The State will never, perhaps, have another opportunity of securing a Capitol building for so small a sum. What if the people should determine hereafter to remove the Capitol to some other point, would not the State realize a splendid profit out of this present investment? With a hundred thousand dollars given to her in a three hundred thousand dollar building, she could not possibly lose by the operation. Then again, bear in mind that the rental from the unoccupied portion of the building would reduce the sum expended by the State to less, in fact, than one hundred thousand dollars.

In our judgment, the Legislature, by adopting the report, will be approved by the people. It is true their passions have been appealed to and aroused upon this subject, but as these subside their judgment will approve a measure so just.

Let the Legislature take up the report this evening, and adopt it at once. The sooner the question is disposed of the better it will be for the State at large. Its continued agitation, by a half dozen successive Legislatures, will involve the State in the loss of a greater sum than that for which this building is now offered to her. It would also allay the strife and bickering which will be kept up between different sections until the question is disposed of.

Another Candidate for Foreign Commissioner—Liberal Proposition.

Editor Constitution: I am advised by my friends to announce my name as a candidate for European Commissioner, under the Immigration Bureau Bill.

I do not seek the office for its pecuniary emoluments, because I am going to Europe on account of my wife's health, and having made my arrangements, would accept the position even were there no salary attached to it, but I believe I can be of more service to my adopted State than any stranger going there, and I think all who know me personally will acknowledge I am a good specimen to show in what good health a foreigner can be after twenty years' residence in the South.

If the efforts now being made by the State are to be successful, she must be represented in Europe long after the present appropriation is exhausted; and should I be considered worthy to fill the position, I am willing to represent her for twenty years to come, without calling on the Treasury for another dollar, believing that the Immigration Bureau will become a self-supporting institution.

Yours respectfully,
J. S. HUTTON.

Macon, March 9, 1869.

The Press on the Inaugural.

From the New York Times.

The characteristics which distinguish Gen. Grant, and command the confidence which marks his entrance upon the duties of the Executive, are conspicuous in his inaugural address. It is brief, clear, emphatic and to the purpose. It touches great wants, indicates great duties, and propounds a great policy with a distinctness that leaves nothing in doubt, and the force of true-born earnestness. Gen. Grant had something to say, and he has said it strongly and well.

All that the office requires of Gen. Grant he will strive to perform. He assumes the Presidential office with a full sense of its responsibilities, but without misunderstanding or fear. The laws will have in him no feeble administrator. His opinions in reference to their merits will not interfere with their enforcement. He will have a "policy to recommend," but "none to enforce against the will of the people."

From the New York Herald.]

President Grant, in his inaugural, speaks with the directness of a soldier and the freshness of an honest man, fresh from the people. The outline which he presents of the purposes of his administration in his domestic and foreign policy is that of a practical statesman, who recognizes the march of events and the living issues of the day. In the hands of a professional politician, the solid matter of this address would become a watery dilution of perhaps half a dozen columns; but here we have all that is required within the limits of a cable telegram. For instance, in saying that "the office has come to me unsought—I commence its duties untrammelled"—he defines his position precisely and in the fewest possible words; and brevity and precision mark the document throughout.

On all the leading questions of the day he will have his views to submit, and in support of them he may exercise the veto power; but he will go no further. He will have no policy to pursue against the laws or the will of the people. He is satisfied on this head with the failure of Mr. Johnson. He will execute the laws as he finds them. In meeting calmly and dispassionately the questions which may come before him growing out of the late rebellion, and looking to the greatest good of the greatest number, his policy will be security for "person, property and for religious and political opinion in every part of our common country, without regard to local prejudice." This means, among other things, that there is to be an end down South to the unlawful shooting of niggers and to terrorism at the polls, and that Sambo, too, will have to respect the laws.

From the New York Democrat.]

The message only develops the fact that General Grant is disposed to consider himself simply the Executive office of the nation, in a very large measure the instrument of the legislative departments to do their bidding, which does not place him in a position at all different from that he was known to occupy previous to its delivery. The feeling is natural to one new as he in this position, but, as he comes more fully to realize the higher duties and responsibilities of his office, he will assume to a greater extent the air of authority.

From the New York Sun.]

This interesting and remarkable State paper will be studied with sincere satisfaction by the masses of the people. It is a plain, straightforward, succinct declaration of the views which will govern the national Executive during the next four years. Without any effort at fine writing, it expresses the convictions of its author in a manner which the popular heart will everywhere warmly appreciate. There is no disguise or hesitation about any of the opinions it sets forth.

From the Baltimore Gazette.]

We lay before the public this morning, the inaugural address delivered yesterday by Gen. Grant. To undertake to pass any decisive judgment upon the incoming President, or to venture to forecast the character of his administration upon the sole basis of the address in question would be premature, if not unfair. His language will probably be differently interpreted by those who merely read it as it runs, and by those who consider it in connection with his previously recorded acts and opinions. Time will soon show conclusively whether Gen. Grant is to be the chief of a party or the hope of a nation. He says, "I ask patient forbearance one towards another throughout the land." This is asking much of a long suffering people. A bona fide majority of the citizens of this country are, and always have been, opposed to the designs and measures of the Radical party, and they have been subjected to grievous indignities and wrongs because of that opposition. Still they are willing to exhibit a "patient forbearance" a little longer, in the hope that General Grant will restore peace to a distracted country. Let us trust their forbearance may be fully justified.

From the Courier-Journal.]

This address, which we have published and briefly commented on, indicates two things: first, that President Grant relies upon himself to do his own writing, and secondly, that, in relying upon himself he hasn't much to rely on. If he had selected a friend to write the address, he could hardly have selected one that would have done the work so feebly. In weakness it probably has not its parallel among documents of similar character. Its looseness and debility of both thought and language are remarkable. Though an education at West Point should certainly make a respectable scholar, it does not seem to have made one of General Grant. His want of practice in writing might be received as a fair excuse for his not being an accomplished writer, but his inaugural gives grave reason for doubt that he is a thinker. A man wholly uneducated, if possessing the strong, straightforward common sense and the vigor and nerve of intellect claimed for Grant by his friends and conceded to him by a portion of his opponents, would seem very unlikely to put forth such an awkward and gangling document as that with which our new President has inaugurated his administration.

Sugar Trade—Boston Speculation.

The Boston Journal of the 22d says: "The sugar market continues firm, and the late rise in prices is fully maintained; the trade generally holding to the opinion that whatever may be the result in the present struggle in Cuba, it is likely to continue long enough to materially interfere with the operations of labor throughout the island; but intelligent persons who have long resided in that country, think that the Government will overcome the insurgents, and, that after the meeting of the Cortes in Spain, such favorable propositions will be made to the Cubans as will secure quiet. In the meantime holders of sugar are reaping a harvest. A sale of a recent importation of raw sugar was made in this city on Friday, which realized a profit of upwards of $40,000 to the owner."

In addition to this, we can state that crushed sugar, which was worth 18 to 19 cents per pound last week, is now about 21 cents per pound in New York. Planters would do well, in view of these facts, to devote a little space to sugar cane. Even if it don't pay a great deal, it's a good thing to have on hand.

ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCHES

FROM WASHINGTON.

CONGRESSIONAL.

WASHINGTON March 10.—In the Senate the Tenure-of-Office bill was resumed. The friends of repeal struggled hard to put it on its passage, but it was referred to the Judiciary Committee by a vote of 33 yeas to 25 nays.

The bill strengthening the public credit was taken up.

Mr. Terry introduced a joint resolution to the effect that the act removing ineligible civil officers in Virginia, Texas, and Mississippi shall not take effect until thirty days after the passage of this resolution. Referred to the Judiciary Committee.

A bill was introduced to pay loyal claimants in the late rebellious States. It contemplates that commissioners for the adjustment of such claims be appointed by the President.

There was a very full caucus of all the Republican Senators to-day. Mr. Anthony was unanimously nominated for President pro. tem. of the Senate.

It was determined to take up only the following general question this session: Repeal of the Tenure-of-office Act; strengthening the public credit; to re-distribute the banking currency; to reorganize the Judiciary; to enforce the 14th amendment; to remove political disabilities; to reorganize the Navy, and the Georgia question.

A motion not to consider the Georgia question this session received only seven votes in the affirmative. Messrs. Thayer, Edmunds, Carpenter, and Sumner urged its immediate consideration.

During the caucus, it being proposed to restrict the business of the session, it was insisted on the part of the Southern Senators that legislation was required for the settlement of the claims of loyal citizens; also, that Mr. Sumner's bill preventing intimidation of voters, etc., should be passed. In addition, they insisted that there should be some general and friendly legislation for the reconstructed States, in order to create a better feeling, that they might understand that they are not neglected by other sections of the country.

Gen. Abbott's bill creating a commissioner for the settlement of the claims of loyal citizens is substantially the same as that introduced by the General at the last session.

A misapprehension having arisen from the recent dispatches regarding the case of Judge Busteed, the following from the official records is telegraphed:

"Mr. Woodbridge, by unanimous consent, moved that the Committee on the Judiciary be discharged from further investigation into the official conduct of Hon. Richard Busteed, Judge of the United States District Court of Alabama, and that the testimony already taken be laid on the table. The motion was agreed to.

Surgeon Jno. Moore has been ordered to the First Military District, as Medical Director.

Col. Henry Morrow relieves Gen. John S. Mason, in Texas.

Commissioner Rollins in making his valedictory, said the interests of the revenue had been sacrificed; that an unworthy policy of reconstruction might be forced upon unwilling people. Bad men and bad women have controlled the Presidential nominations; also that the country has abundant reason to believe that the expectation of pardon will not hereafter stimulate violations of the revenue law.

The Supreme Court is arguing an amendment compelling the collector of taxes to receive the issues of the Tennessee banks before the war.

In the Supreme Court, Evarts introduced his successor, Judge Hoar, who was qualified as Attorney General.

Mr. Stewart and family depart for New York to-morrow.

Gen. Hatch, Colonel of the 9th Cavalry, will succeed Gen. Howard in the Freedmen's Bureau.

The new Secretaries are at work in all the departments, except the Treasury Department.

Two Republican wings, from Mississippi, have had several meetings without compromising their difficulties.

AUGUSTA, March 10.—A quantity of tobacco was seized here yesterday at the South Carolina Railroad depot, by the United States Commissioner, for violation of the revenue laws. The tobacco was consigned to a merchant in Savannah.

Horace Greeley to the New York Newsboys.

Horace Greeley, editor of the New York Tribune, delivered an address recently to the New York newsboys. The following abstract of it contains much wholesome advice:

As the result of many years' experience he believed a man should not be poor all his life, and unless poverty was the result of misfortune, it was unjustifiable. By riches, he meant enough to satisfy all proper wants and guards against contingencies. He believed every boy before him could be rich and ought to be rich. He cited out John Jacob Astor, who founded the great Astor Library, as an example of a poor boy who had by industry and honesty succeeded in life. It was honesty and industry, said Mr. Greeley, that gave Astor success, and it is patient plodding, careful industrious men that succeed. Stephen Girard, who by his great wealth left a noble college to the country, was another example of industry and perseverance. He advised the boys to begin by saving ten cents, and adding as often as possible, and the boy who should save $100 by the time he was 21 years old would pretty surely be a rich man. He told the boys men got rich by doing right, and not by doing wrong. Men who sold rum or kept gambling houses, didn't often get rich, and none of them were able to found a library like Mr. Astor, or endow a college like Girard. He believed one thing essential in getting rich was to be an honest man. The most of the men who had become rich since he had been in New York were honest. All the thieves in New York had never acquired as much wealth as John Jacob Astor. Evil causes did not lead to wealth, although they might seem to do so.

Another thing necessary in order to get rich was to be temperate. He had known many men with great abilities and fine prospects to fail because of intemperance. If they resolve to be rich, they must stop drinking; or, if they have not commenced, they must not begin. They ought also to resolve to be industrious, and when resolved on that, make up their minds to learn a trade. Mr. Greeley spoke at length on the evils of being without a trade, and related his own experience and his satisfaction at having followed out an impulse which he formed at 10 years of age to be a printer. He would have every boy before him either learn a trade or become a farmer. He commended farming as a healthy and honorable employment, saying that if he could have his life to live over again he would be a farmer. He concluded by speaking of the grand opportunities afforded in this country for mechanics, and especially for farmers, under the homestead law, and urged the boys to resolve to embrace these opportunities, and while they sought to live in accordance with the moral teachings they received, to gain riches and honor and true manhood.

THE LAST NIGHT.—To-night, it will be recollected, is the last appearance of the Bell Ringers in our city. The crowded houses and rapturous applause with which they have been greeted since their arrival here, testify, not only to their superior merits, but the high appreciation of their talents by the people of this city. Their programme embraces a variety of novel and original performances, which cannot offend the most fastidious critics. Give them a ful house at the parting, and let them bear away with them the most pleasing reminiscences of their visit here.

MR. TREVELICK'S LECTURE.—It was our good fortune on Tuesday night to hear the address of Mr. Richard F. Trevelick on "The Rights of Labor" at Representative Hall. Notwithstanding the inclement character of the weather, the Hall and Galleries were crowded, and we were pleased to see many ladies out. Mr. Thomas C. Spencer was called to the chair. The speaker enchained the audience for nearly two hours in an able and masterly expose of the condition of our country, the wants and rights of labor, and the design and object of the National Labor Union. His points were clearly and forcibly made, and his logic irresistible. At times he would rise to thrilling eloquence, as he portrayed the wrongs heaped upon the sons and daughters of Toil, or pictured the misery, suffering and degradation of the sewing women of New York. He was frequently interrupted by hearty applause, and his remarks were well received by the audience. We but express the common wish, when we say, that we trust another opportunity will be afforded our citizens to hear Mr. Trevelick on this important topic.

THE TEMPERANCE MEETING YESTERDAY.—In addition to the proceedings to be found on our outside, of the meeting held yesterday to reorganize the Grand Division, Sons of Temperance, we annex the following summary.

Thanks were unanimously tendered to the Independent Order of Good Templars, for the use of their hall; to Col. E. Hulbert, Superintendent Western and Atlantic Railroad, and S. K. Johnson, Assistant Superintendent Georgia Railroad, for their generosity in transporting delegates for one fare; to Mrs. R. W. Joiner, for generous proffer to reduce rates of board to delegates, and they cordially recommend temperance men and the traveling public to stop at her house when visiting Atlanta; to Dr. C. R. Moore, G. W. C., Knights of Jericho, for his patriotic and eloquent address to them.

The following are the Divisions in the State, so far as heard from: Catoosa, No. 1, Ringgold; Tunnel Hill, No. 2, Tunnel Hill; Cedar Grove, No. 3, Cedar Grove, Walker county; Rising Star, No. 69, Athens; Anderson, No. 100, Lithonia: Whidby, 251, Stone Mountain; Spring Hill, No. 273, Richmond county; and Winterville, in Clarke county.

Florence Vane.

By the late PHILIP PENDLETON COOKE, of Virginia.
(Born 1816: Died 1850)

I loved thee long and dearly,
Florence Vane;
My life's bright dream, and early,
Hath come again;
I renew in my fond vision,
My heart's dear pain,
My hope, and thy derision,
Florence Vane.

The ruin lone and dreary,
The ruin old,
Where then didst hark my story,
As even told—
That spot—the blues Elysian
Of sky and plain—
Treasure in fee for vision,
Florence Vane.

SOUTHERN COTTON FACTORIES.—From every part of Georgia we are pleased to hear that the people are waking up to the importance of manufacturing our own cotton. This is the right spirit. Every surplus dollar of capital in the South should be invested in manufactories. If the people at the North can make immense fortunes by manufacturing cotton brought from Georgia, surely we can make more when both the cotton and market for the goods are close by us. There is no doubt that cotton factories at the South is the most profitable investment for capital that can be found in the United States, and men of means at the North will soon find it out. But the people of the South should not miss this splendid chance of making money; they too should take part in it. We hope in ten years the cotton of Georgia will be mostly manufactured in Georgia.—Fede al Union.

☞ A Washington special to the New York Commercial, says the Radical politicians are disappointed in the Cabinet. The opinion prevails, however, among the conservatives that Grant selected the Cabinet for their fitness, and they all enjoy his personal esteem and confidence; and it is urged as an advantage that none of them have political friends nor enemies to reward or punish; that nominations for subordinate positions will be influenced solely by capacity and integrity. The same correspondent says a gentleman was informed by the President that he would tolerate no idlers in any department of Government, and that the people were too poor to pay salaries as mere bonus to professional politicians.

READ, O WOMAN!—As health is the greatest blessing on earth, so is disease the greatest curse. The first wish of the heart, therefore, in a temporal view, should be health. Nor is this all. As diseased renders us unfit to perform the various duties appropriate to our station in life, there is a moral obligation resting upon us to preserve our physical integrity, by using the means at hand for repelling disease.
Now there is nothing so destructive to health in females as a continued suppression of the menses It is a condition which makes a woman useless to herself and a burden to her friends. Dr. J. Bradfield's Female Regulator, Woman's best Friend, is the only certain cure. Lose not a moment in embracing the remedy feb14-tf

ATLANTA, GEORGIA :::::MARCH 10

From the Dahlonega Signal.]

The Sixth Congressional Election.

Editor Signal: I learn through private sources that some of the members of the Legislature, in Atlanta, are about to arrogate to themselves the business of suggesting to the people of the 6th Congressional District the withdrawal of Col. Wier Boyd from the canvass, as the Democratic candidate, on account of his political disabilities.

Now, Mr. Editor, Col. Boyd's political status was well known by the convention that nominated him; and in that convention every county was represented, generally by men of ability, from every avocation of life. Pursuant to that nomination, Boyd stumped the District against his opponent, and doubtless contributed much to the Democratic majority in the Congressional election—thereby expended his time and time in the cause of that party which honored him with the nomination, and the party would be acting in bad faith to Col. Boyd to go back in its own [illegible]

It is not probable that the people of the District would be satisfied with any candidate that could take the test oath; and under the laws of Congress no man can take his seat without taking this oath, or being relieved from his disabilities. The same power that will relieve from the test oath will relieve from the disability of the 14th amendment. It occurs to me that Colonel Boyd stands as good a chance as any one who sided with the South during the late war, to obtain his seat if elected.

Moreover, it is believed that the incoming administration, and the party in power will be much more liberal and conservative towards the South than was the past—that the inauguration of General Grant will be an era of peace.

Col. Boyd's admitted Union Conservative political opinions and actions in the past, will not fail to render him acceptable to all right minded Republicans in Congress.

Mr. Editor, at no time in the past have we, in the mountain section of the State, had so fair a prospect of being represented in the counsels of the nation, by the man of our choice. Let us lay aside all bickerings and rally to our candidate and give him such a majority as shall settle all doubt in Congress and elsewhere, as to our preference. And let members of the Legislature understand that we desire them to address themselves with diligence to the legislative business, and when they get things through, come home, as that is what we give them nine dollars per day for.

FAIR PLAY.

DIED.—At his residence in Milledgeville, on the morning of the 8th instant, Mr. R. M Orme, Sr., for many years senior editor of the Southern Recorder. Mr. Orme was empatically a good man, in all of the relations of life. A kind father, husband, neighbor and friend. His loss will be felt by our whole community, who sympathize most sincerely with the bereaved family. Federal Union.

☞ It is seldom that we use the columns of this paper to "puff" or notice the "thousand and one" articles known as Patent Medicines." We, however, vary from our rule in the present case that we may call attention to the article known as "S. T.—1860—X, Plantation Bitters." We desire it understood that we do so without any solicitation or promise of benefit from the proprietor or other interested parties. We simply do it as an act of duty toward those who are laboring under physical disability, weakness, and the various complaints arising from impurities of the blood. Having used the Bitters at the instigation of a friend, (and, we confess, with some misgivings at the outset,) we found them a most valuable medical compound, and to our great satisfaction, accomplished the object for which they were used.

DARBY'S

Prophylactic Fluid.

Letter from Hon. Alex. H. Stephens, of Georgia.

CRAWFORDSVILLE, Ga., Sept. 29th, 1869.

Darby's Prophylactic Fluid is an article of little cost, but great value. Its domestic as well as medical uses are numerous, while its specialities are most wonderful. I have not been without it for ten years, and no head of a family who can afford to have it should be without it.

The Wonderful Family Medicine.

Letter from the Surgeon General of the late Confederate States.

RICHMOND, VA., Jan'y 14, 1868.

John Darby & Co., No. 160 William St., N. Y.

Gentlemen: I have received your letter of the 15th of December, 1866 calling my attention to your (Darby's Prophylatic) Fluid.

I most cheerfully state that the Fluid was furnished exclusively used by the Surgeons in charge of General Hospitals in the Confederate service with great benefit to the patients—all the surgeons making a favorable report—a great deal of it was used in the hospitals.

Very respectfully, your ob'd'n't serv't,

SAMPL PRESTON MOORE, M. D.

THE ASTONISHING

DISINFECTANT.

EMERY COLLEGE, OXFORD, GA., December 28th, 1868.

Prof. Darby: Dear Sir—Having not been engaged for many years in the active duties of the Medical Profession, I am only superficially acquainted with the claims of your Prophylatic Fluid, but am well acquainted with its chemical elements.

While, therefore, I cannot speak experimentally of the value of the compound, yet the disinfecting and Therapeutic properties of the agents employed in its composition, together with the well known reputation of its discoverer, as a chemist, authorize me to regard its merits as of a high order;—on the whole it must be considered as a valuable contribution to the class of articles to which it belongs.

These views, I may add, are sustained by the testimony of many competent judges, who have tested its properties.

Believe me, dear sir, yours respectfully,

A. MEANS, M.D., LL.D.

ALABAMA INSANE HOSPITAL, TUSCALOOSA, December 22, 1868.

Messrs. John Darby & Co., 160 William St., N. Y.

Gentlemen:—I received your Circulars of the 10th inst, asking an expression of opinion from me as to the merits of your Prophylatic Fluid. The preparation has been so generally used by the profession and public at large, and so universally esteemed, that it seems to me to need no further recommendation.

As a Disinfectant, and remedial agent too, when indicated, it is not excelled by any similar preparation. We use the best manganate preparations very extensively in this Hospital, and could not do without them. I consider yours the best and most elegant preparation of the kind manufactured. Respectfully yours, &c.,

P. BRYCE, M. D.,

A Perfect Pain Killer.

WESLEYAN FEMALE COLLEGE, STAUNTON, VA., Jan. 9, 1869.

Prof. Darby:—When I was President of the LaGrange Female College of Georgia I used your Prophylactic Fluid in the College with decided success. Both as a disinfectant and as a remedy for sores and burns, etc., it was efficacious and proved to be what it is represented. Every family and public institution ought to have it. I wish you great success in the sale of it.

WM. A HARRIS, D.D.

Pres. W. F. College, Staunton, Va.

Never was there a family medicine so highly recommended as this. Try it and you will never regret it.

Let every country merchant visiting New York this spring put this article in his list. Ask, dont wait—Order at once.

And so we might fill this entire paper with recommendations from the very best men in the country.

There is no question that this is a most wonderful and useful article as a disinfectant, and for wounds, sores, burns, poisons, colic, as a tooth wash, general purifier, &c., &c.

Every Druggist or Country Merchant has it for sale.

Rhodes' Standard

Superphosphate!

SAVANNAH, CHATHAM COUNTY GA., February 13, 1869.

ANALYSIS OF

Rhodes' Standard

SUPERPHOSPHATE of LIME

MOISTURE EXPELLED at 212°		5 06
SOLUBLE PHOSHORIC ACID,		9 08
EQUAL TO PHOSPHATE LIME,	19 78	16 03.
COMMON PHOSPHORIC ACID,
EQUAL TO BONE PHOSPHATE,	34 99

LIME WITH PHOSPHORIC ACID,		29 68
SAND,		00 00
SULPHATE OF LIME, and other salts not estimated,		40 18
		100.00

The above analysis indicates a MANURIAL SUPERPHOSPHATE OF LIME OF THE HIGHEST GRADE ordinarily found in the American market. Its large amount of SOLUBLE PHOSPHORIC ACID supplies an active nutriment for the development and maturity of the fruitage. The Sulphuric Acid which it contains, by chemical affinity with the elements of most soils, contributes to its fertilizing properties. To show its best effects, this Superphosphate should be applied under and in contact with the seed, and with a moderately shallow covering of soil.

A. MEANS,

Inspector, Savannah, Chatham County, Ga.

G. H. WILLIAMS, Assistant Chemist.

We guarantee that every package of Rhodes' Standard Superphosphate shall fully come up to the above analysis.

TESTIMONIALS:

We select the following extracts for the benefit of those who have not used Rhodes' "Standard" Manure:

S. Wyatt, Esq., of Allington Plantation, near Waynesboro, Ga., writes as follows to Messrs. B M. Rhodes & Co.:

"Your Phosphate I am highly delighted with; I gave it a fair trial along with several other Standard Manures, and I regard it fully equal if not superior to the best of them. On one field of 100 acres, that I am sure would not, in its natural state, have produced over 40 lbs. of seed cotton to the acre, I have already gathered 700 pounds, and think I shall get fully 200 pounds more.

"Two other fields of 100 acres, better land, I have gathered, at two pickings, over 1,000 pounds to the acre of seed cotton, and think I shall get 200 pounds more.

"I tried it, also, on corn, and found it very good, but not equal in its results to the cotton crop. Several of my neighbors, whose lands adjoin my own, and is pretty much the same character of land who used no fertilizer at all, have signally failed, making no more than half a crop, if so much as that. Where I applied Rhodes' Phosphate the cotton was heavily fruited, boll's larger, the staple longer, stouter and better than where none was used, so much so that any one, even though he may never have seen the growth before, could readily see it. The only objection to it is, it causes the cotton to open faster than we can possibly gather it—at least, such is my experience."

T. C. Howard, Esq., of Darien, Ga., writes as follows:

"It is proper that I should say the results of the use of your fertilizer have been very marked and indeed surprising. I have made more cotton by its aid on worn out land, that has not been in cultivation in two years past, than I have been able to do on the best swamp or bottom land on my place in Mississippi."

ATHENS, GA., January 23, 1869.

Messrs. P. P. Pease & Co., Atlanta: I applied the two tons of Rhodes' Super-Phosphate, which you furnished me last year, at the rate of 400 pounds to the acre, on this land, considerably exhausted by continued cultivation, without manure, and have no hesitation in saying that it is an excellent fertilizer for cotton. On the eight acres to which I applied it, I picked upwards of 8,000 pounds of seed cotton—more than double what the land would have produced without the fertilizer. It is also proper to mention, that while the caterpillars stripped all the leaves and young bolls off an adjoining patch, manured with Dickson's Mixture commencing their ravages in August, they did not attack that manured with Rhodes' Super-Phosphate until the first week in October.

WILLIAM M. BROWNE.

Thousands of certificates and letters could be published, showing the value of Rhodes' "Standard," a quick and permanent fertilizer.

TESTIMONIALS:

NEAR ATLANTA, GA., December 10th, 1868.

Messrs. Adair & Brother: I applied Soluble Pacific Guano, procured from you, at the rate of 200 pounds per acre on cotton. I am satisfied its use produced a crop three times greater than the land would produce without it. GEO. S. KEY.

NEAR ATLANTA, GA., Dec. 1, 1868.

Messrs. Adair & Brother: I applied 300 pounds per acre of Soluble Pacific Guano, procured from you. Notwithstanding a ten weeks' drought and the attack of the caterpillar, I gathered 850 pounds per acre. From the same land, without the Guano, I gathered only 200 pounds cotton—say less than one-fourth the quantity. E. MORRIS.

ATLANTA, GA., Dec. 19th, 1868.

Messrs. Adair & Brother: I used this year the Soluble Pacific Guano, bought of you, at the rate of 100 pounds per acre on cotton planted three feet apart in the drill. I am confident it is a pure article and believe it increased the yield double, notwithstanding a six weeks' drought and serious attack of caterpillar. J. M. CALHOUN.

ATLANTA, GA., Dec. 10th, 1868.

Messrs. Adair & Brother. Gents: I bought of you last spring one ton Soluble Pacific Guano and put it on cotton. It proved fully up to my expectations and I cheerfully recommend it to planters as a profitable fertilizer for cotton. M. G. DOBBINS.

COLUMBUS, GA., December, 1868.

John S. Reese & Co., Dear Sirs: Another year confirms my previously expressed convictions, that the Soluble Pacific Guano, as compared with Peruvian, is fully as good—indeed better. I have now tested it sufficiently, using each side by side for two seasons, applying the same weight of each per acre, and in every case the Pacific has given the best results on cotton, corn, potatoes and small grain, and the testimony I have from a great many planters confirms my experience.

WM. H. YOUNG.

Charles A. Peabody, Esq., of Lee county, Alabama, in a letter to William H. Young, says:

"The Peruvian Guano I had before used, and know it to be an invaluable fertilizer for cotton I now find the Soluble Pacific to be equally as good. At the same price I would as soon have it for cotton or corn as the Peruvian; some of my hands insist that it is better." dec15-d3m
